

Prenatal Development and Relationships

Journal: think about the information you've just learned about prenatal development, the developing senses, and the attachment opportunities. Think about what this information means to you in your work. Complete the following statements.

I can use this information to promote strong parent-child attachment by....

I can use this information to build a partnership with parents by